Excerpt from Gettysburg Gettysburg I Prologue War is the guerdon of wrong; the guerdon of greed or injustice; Man through ambition or lust may sin against God - the Eternal, Blood must repay all that wrong, - all the crime of the sons or the fathers! Heaven exacteth the debt, and payment must swiftly be rendered; Sin is atoned for through tears; through the anguish of men and of women! Man cannot trample on man without a sure retribution, Avarice, pride and greed shall gather a harvest of sorrow, - God taketh care of his own - the reaping shall be as the sowing! Up from the dust cried the blood - the life-blood of slaves lashed and fettered! Forth from their graves came the ghosts, - the ghosts of a race foully tortured; About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
