Reviews

*A very amazing publication with perfect and lucid information. We have read through and that i am certain that i will planning to study once more yet again in the future. You will not really feel monotony at anytime of the time (that's what catalogues are for about should you question me).

Not illustrated. 1870 Excerpt: .Frank carefully took hold of the reins, and stood by the horse's head. Little did he think as he was thus occupied, and thanking God for giving him in so short a time this, as it appeared, direct answer to his prayer, that the gentleman was watching him from the window above. I say, Abel, said Mr. Slater, addressing his partner, that's a nice lad there holding my horse. Yes, he appears to be thinking of something serious, by his countenance. No doubt he's thinking about what I'm going to give him. MR. SLATER QUESTIONS FRANK. 61 Did you make him a good offer then, Slater, to hold your horse? I promised him a night's supper, and I shall never forget the look he gave me. It seemed to go through me. Oh, it's only one of your generous impulses, that's all. Come, let us decide about this order; it's getting late. With that they both consulted together, and finally concluded their arrangements; then, bidding each other goodnight, Mr. Slater descended to his gig. Well, my man, I'm glad to see you so careful; here's half-a-crown for you. Frank could scarcely believe either his eyes or his ears, and, ere he had summoned up words of thanks, Mr. Slater added, Did I understand you to say that you had nothing to do. Yes, sir. How's that? I'm a stranger in London, sir; I came...
