Technically education has made rapid strides in this country during the last decade, and this has given rise to many excellent works on the various technological subjects, and also to the formation of classes for the study of these subjects. Though it may be, as has been asserted - and not without reason - that the subject of cotton spinning has been dealt with in a manner too abstract and speculative, and that too great value is often attached to theoretical knowledge; still, it cannot be doubted that a knowledge of the elements of the theory is of considerable value to those who are mainly concerned with practical results. Technical classes and text books are undoubtedly valuable aids to the acquisition of a sound knowledge of the science, but it is to the factory that the student must apply himself for the most useful part of his training, and text books should be used as guides to the intelligent study of the different departments. In asserting this we seek to do no more than support the old truism, experientia docet The answers to the examination questions are as complete as the limits of the works will allow, and in many of them there will be found...
