Historical Association, October 4, 1921. Mr. Martin Decker the author of this paper died July 1, 1922. an experience of two or three years. This mistake was committed after 1910 both by Democratic and Republican administrations. These appointments upon political grounds have been deplored by all men having real interest in the fullest efficiency of Public Service regulation. It is a course directly opposed to the appointment policy which was established by Governor Hughes. It has justified the fears of those who opposed the enactment of the Hughes Public Service Commissions Law in 1907 and who asserted that politics sooner or later would govern or dictate the appointments to these Commissions. Those fears were expressed because the old Board of Railroad Commissioners had become notoriously, as to its membership, the football of politics. For that reason doubtless, in the make up of his appointments...
