Zola dramatically shaped the course of French literature through the development of naturalism, characterized by the unsentimental and realistic portrayal of middle and lower class French life. His twenty novel cycle Les Rougon-Macquart is epic in scope, often drawing comparisons to the prolific output of Balzac. Here, in his 1888 Le Rve (The Dream) we encounter the sixteenth installment of the cycle. This tale tells the story of the young orphan Anglique Marie. Enchanted by stories of heraldry and sainthood, she dreams of being swept away by a brave prince. Her fairy-tale wish works its way into her life when she falls in love with Flicien d'Hautecur, a member of a noble family with deep roots. Their affair becomes tumultuous, however Fliciens father contests their relationship. The Dream is a fine work which fits neatly into Zolas expansive and varied oeuvre-a tale that truly demonstrates his naturalism and breadth of characterization.
